

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system for heating and/or converting at least one medium, such as an evaporator, a reactor or a heat exchanger, has layers arranged in a stack which layers are formed by pressing catalyst
5 material. Devices are provided for dividing the stack into a number of separate function areas.